

Report on Col. Sinha's workshop (23.11.08)

We experience the passing of each day and night but some of them are remembered because of their individual difference, the experience - good or bad, that they make to our lives. One such day was when Col. Sinha took the ~~TA~~IP workshop. It was a workshop which revealed many sides of teaching which we know ^{yet} ~~but~~ have hardly given much time to think and improve upon. The stress that Col. Sinha laid on making classroom teaching interesting and interactive even when the topic is tough and complex is a thing to be remembered by us senior wing teachers who sometimes give too much of importance to the syllabus. So the solution that he suggested was to make a more realistic syllabus which could be effectively dealt by each of us and would mean real understanding rather than ~~complex~~ mundane routine work. The presentation and effectiveness of ^{the module by} Col. Sinha as

~~the resource person~~ was very effective and there was not a dull moment in the workshop.

"You can teach a student a lesson for a day; but if you can teach him to learn by creating curiosity, he will continue the learning process as long as he lives."

With the very apt statement above, I would like to express my sincere gratitude to the facilitator of the session. There are only a few considerate people who appreciate the teachers and make them realise the pivotal role they play in building the society. Besides being extremely motivating and rejuvenating, the session was conducted in a very witty as well as humorous way.

- * I was enthralled to observe the facilitator's positive vibes
 - * The anecdotes referred to elevate human beings and teachers were very relevant.
 - * He was an apt example of awakening every dormant facilitator (teacher) irrespective of any age.
 - * I did ~~not~~ find his methodology logical as his own session captivated us with substantial points in spite of the tension of correction of Term II papers during that time.
 - * I would be eagerly waiting for my feedback from the students which he talked about.
 - * We can have (In fact awaiting for the same) his session in continuation.
 - * The thought-provoking clips from the movie 'Taare Zameen Par', in spite of repeated watch, were just apt to bring tears in our eyes.
- 'The more you watch the scenes
The wiser you become as a facilitator'

The session has left ~~and~~ an everlasting effect.

I, personally, am highly impressed.

COLONEL SINHA'S Workshop: feedback report.

It was ^{really a} ~~fortunate~~ ~~matter~~ of privilege to attend ~~the~~ Mr. Sinha's Workshop. In this regard, I would like to mention few interesting aspects as follows:

- As a man, I personally salute ~~for~~ ~~your~~ his. Wonderful observation regarding ~~to~~ the present teaching-learning scenario.
- The presentation was lively and ~~headfelt~~ ~~mind~~ brainstorming.
- It was very interesting as it was based on day to day happenings.
- Most of the thoughts were related to the feelings of majority of teachers like us.
- We need such workshops to really develop ourselves as well as ~~the~~ the system of education as a whole.
- ~~As~~ If such things are implemented religiously and honestly, the quality of education is bound to reach its optimum.

Feedback of Col. Sinha's Workshop

(dt. 23.11.08)

It has been rightly said that teaching is a noble profession and it was for the first time that I was made to realise that I am persuing a profession which is so noble.

I will remember this workshop throughout my life as it inculcated in me the desire to make my student as comfortable as possible when I am teaching.

Today, our main emphasis is to complete the syllabus without realising whether the students are able to understand the concept or not. Though, my subject has scope for practicals and activities and we do conduct it to make the students understand things better but due to shortage of time or less periods being sanctioned, at times we rush to complete the course.

During Col. Sinha's session, I was made to realise that if we want to teach a child in class its very necessary to make them curious about a subject and then unfold its parts. This makes the class interactive and interesting as well.

We have been attending various workshops but this has been a fruitful one for me.

FEEDBACK OF THE WORKSHOP

RESOURCE PERSON : COL. SUDHIR SINHA

DATE : 22nd NOVEMBER 2008

"If your plan is for one year, plant rice
If your plan is for ten years, plant trees
If your plan is for hundred years, educate children."

The session started with these inspiring words which made us feel proud ~~for~~ being a teacher. The workshop was really interesting, motivating and will surely enhance our teaching skills. The techniques taught are really going to help us in our classroom teaching and the children will learn in a better way. We would always like to have these type of workshops in future also.

FEEDBACK OF Col. Sinha's Workshop

Attending Mr. Sinha's workshop on 22.11.08 was an eye opener to ~~my~~ me. The workshop was full of valuable information on how the teachers can effectively improve their quality. TQIP should be done on a regular basis so that the teachers are gradually able to improve themselves and hence the classroom output quality improves. Such workshops will in turn be helpful to the students as the teacher's teaching will be effectively improved. Apart from theoretical concepts there should be practical sessions so that we can see for ourselves and practice too, before actually implementing it. Col. Sinha was very-very interactive and his way of delivering his session has set an example for us and created a path to follow.
